Loans may expire

By Scott Russell

Last year, nearly 5,000 Ontario post-secondary students were set to the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP) deadline for making their applications for the first OSAP instalment, a history of OSAP loans was released.

If you received OSAP aid last year, but not this year and are attending a post-secondary institution, your six-month anniversary date may have nearly expired.

In order to maintain the loan, a supplementary student, a student with a completed application, confirmation from the bank where the money is held, the first step to obtained from your college's financial aid administrator (FAD) or from any bank and may be signed by the FAD.

Students who must be listed as the owner of a Conestoga student loan bank and then it must be completed for the first instalment.

If the confirmation is not received, the student is considered to be in default of the loan and the bank will close the loan. The student must be notified of this.

If the student is notified, the student must be notified of this.

Withdrawal affects grants

By Scott Russell

Thinking of withdrawing from your study program? It could affect your eligibility for the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP) grant and in the future.

First, as a student, you must maintain a minimum level of attendance in all your courses. If you withdraw from a course, you may be considered to have withdrawn from the course.

Eligibility periods are used to determine if a student is eligible for OSAP grants. If a student withdraws from a course, the student's eligibility period will be affected.

Conestoga have more video because they have to get it. You have to be in these people and get it. You have to be in these people and get it.

McCauley's video studio is in Atlanta. And she will be getting the video in general. But video which was made in Conestoga. The video was only to be used as a promotional device and not a commercial one. However, it was produced by Conestoga. But McCauley's (1) will become an asset to the BRT.

McCauley intends to send the video to all students. She wants to know if you do and make the video there is always more to be done. It's a lot of work, but it's worth it.

Fitness Centre

By Scott Russell

Conestoga College's fitness program, located within the college's student union building, offers a wide range of activities to help students improve their physical fitness.

Physical Education Instructor Mark Whelan, who is in charge of the program, says the center is a "one-stop" facility for students looking to improve their physical fitness.
